Özet

My journey in software, which began in the second grade, has evolved into a cornerstone of expertise and dedication, propelling me to leadership in the technology sector. Through a decade-long advanced intelligence program at the Science and Art Center (BİLSEM), I cultivated a deep proficiency in software, robotics, and electronics. This path not only solidified my commitment to technology but also ignited a drive for innovative solutions and continuous advancement.

As the CTO of Ikarus, I now blend strategic insight with technical expertise, leading impactful projects that push boundaries in the tech industry. Additionally, I share my sectoral knowledge and insights through my work as a writer for IkarusLab, contributing to the broader tech community. As a co-founder of Airport Transfer Istanbul, I'm dedicated to providing an unparalleled travel experience that reflects the vibrant spirit of Istanbul, making each journey a memorable experience rather than mere transportation.

Beyond my professional roles, I am committed to societal contribution. Inspired by the Ahi philosophy, I lead initiatives within a non-profit organization, guided by principles of integrity, excellence, and social cohesion. We aim to foster an ethical and resilient future that upholds shared values and mutual growth.

My personal mission is clear: to create value, uplift my country, and embrace every new day as an opportunity to innovate and redefine boundaries in technology.
